5       the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico is hereby declared to 6       be a State of the United States of America, admitted into 7       the Union on an equal footing with the other States in all 8       respects whatever. The constitution drafted in accordance 9       with the Act entitled "An Act to provide for the organiza-

22 increase or decrease the permanent membership of the House
23 of Representatives as prescribed in the Act of August 8, 1911
24 (37 Stat. 13), nor shall such temporary increase affect the 25 basis of apportionment established by the Act of November

1 15, 1941 (2 U.S.C. 2a), for the Eighty-third Congress and 2 each Congress thereafter.

3       SEC. 9. The sum of $100,000, or so much thereof as

21 title 28 of the United States Code shall thenceforth be 22 a court of the United States with judicial power derived

25 the commission of such offenses. The admission of such

1 State shall effect no change in the substantive or criminal
2 law governing such causes of action and criminal offenses
3 which shall have arisen or been committed; and such of the 4 criminal offenses as shall have been committed against the 5 laws of the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico shall be tried

23 be appropriate. Parties shall have the same rights of appeal 24 from and appellate review of all orders, judgments, and 25 decrees of the United States District Court for the District

1 of Puerto Rico, and of the State court which is the successor
2 to the Supreme Court of Puerto Rico, in any case pending
3 at the time of admission of said State into the Union, and 4 the United States Court of Appeals for the First Circuit
5 and the Supreme Court of the United States shall have the 6 same jurisdiction therein, as by law provided in any case
7 arising subsequent to the admission of such State into the
